

John Bunch

John Bunch holds a B.A. in Psychology from the University of Michigan and a Ph.D. in Business Administration from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. He is currently on faculty in the Department of Management at Central Michigan University, and has a wealth of experience as both an instructor and a director for business and management programs at the university level, having been on faculty at such institutions as Lehigh University, Kansas State University, and Benedictine College before coming to CMU. John is also a published writer, with work in publications such as the Journal of Organizational Psychology.

Along with serving on the Board of Directors for the Arnold Center, John currently sits on Central Michigan University's MSA Advisory Board, and serves as an advisor to their SHRM Virtual Chapter. He has a strong record of serving the communities in which he has lived, having served on boards and in consulting positions for various institutions. John has also worked as a consultant and researcher across multiple disciplines ranging from Human Resources and Small Business Management to the Arts and Music.

John is a Midland resident.