Exceptional People Delivering Quality Service
MISSION: We empower individuals with disabilities and other barriers to independence through enhanced vocational, social and life skill training and services that lead to greater self-sufficiency.

VISION: The Arnold Center is the leading organization paving the way to maximize opportunities and self development for individuals with disabilities and other barriers to independence.

QUALITY STATEMENT: Exceptional people delivering quality services.
Dear Friends,

The year 2020 was abundant with challenges and opportunities for the Arnold Center, Inc. We will continue into this next year to navigate through a global pandemic, employment first initiatives, and changes in how we are providing services during this time of reduced in-person contact. As a result of this out of the ordinary year we have deepened our appreciation for each other, our community, and the partnerships that support us.

Each time we have been presented with a challenge we have looked for the opportunity to serve. Our organization was able to make and donate over 3,000 sewn masks, assemble 2,100 face shields, expand the Midland Fresh Program (21,000 pounds were distributed), grow and donate over 1,000 starter plants for the community gardens, serve as a donation transition center and provide transportation of donated goods during the flood, and we started a WeGive Program that captures our volunteer hours and activities within the communities we serve.

Most importantly we have continued to strive to meet our mission of empowering individuals with disabilities to reach and maintain greater independence. The individuals in our employment programs have been right here with us as essential workers in maintaining contracts with employers that are providing essential products or services for all of us.

We are exceedingly grateful for the opportunities and continual support from our community members and partners in Midland and Gladwin Counties.

With deep appreciation,

Jennifer Grace

The Arnold Center would like to offer our sincere appreciation to Mark Craig for his tenure as Chairman of the Board of Directors (2018-2020) Mark’s leadership and guidance were instrumental in navigating through organization and environmental change over this fiscal year.

The Arnold Center would like to recognize and dedicate this report in honor of our long-term Board Member and friend Ron Glomski. Ron started serving on the Board of Directors after his retirement from the Dow Chemical Company. Ron served on the Board of Directors from 1997 until his passing in November 2019. Ron stated that his initial interest in the Arnold Center stemmed from the fact that he was the parent of an individual with Autism, however his interest was not solely based on his personal situation, but with the desire to serve others with disabilities. During Ron’s service he spent time on the Executive Committee as the Board Secretary as a member of the Executive/Governance Committee and as a member of the Strategic Oversight Committee. Ron stated in his Board of Directors Biography that he wanted to be remembered as someone who cared about important issues and who stepped forward and tried to do something about resolving them. Ron will truly be missed and always remembered for stepping forward.

Joe A.

I was first introduced to the Arnold Center in 2016. At that time, I was experiencing ongoing mental health issues which had left me unemployed and deeply concerned for my future. Little did I know how far my strong work ethic and positive attitude would take me at the Arnold Center.

I started in the Organizational Employment Program with basic tasks - folding towels. Through the first year I was gradually given more complex tasks as I progressed with my treatment plan and gained confidence in my abilities. I moved into Supported Employment through the Arnold Center Auction House. I demonstrated through my responsibilities with the auction house my computer skills along with the ability to organize and analyze complex systems.

I was asked to be one of the first participants in the development of the WeGrow/Arnold Farms Project. In the beginning I learned all the basics of hydroponics, how to plant, harvest and maintain the system. As time went by I was able to demonstrate my talents for account management, sales, financial analysis, developing production schedules, and marketing. I began doing the day to day accounting tasks associated with the farm. As I progressed with my mental health treatment, I also progressed at the Arnold Center.

I have successfully completed my time as a participant at the Arnold Center. I am now the Business Development Assistant for Social Enterprises; I have taken a larger role in Arnold Farms. Some of my tasks include accounting, sales, purchasing supplies, and making sure the farm is running at its highest capacity. I am the liaison for the farm and the special projects we are working on with DOW. My new position has also opened new areas other than the farm; I am assisting with the development of other social enterprises.

I credit the Arnold Center and their work development programs for putting me back on my feet and in a position that fits my work experience and education. The services I received here along with the assistance from Community Mental Health has really turned my life around for the better.

Commitment to Provide Quality Service

The Arnold Center is an organization that focuses on quality service in every aspect of its operation. Quality, to Arnold Center employees, is much more than a catchy phrase. It is a commitment to a standard that guides them when carrying out their professional responsibilities. The Arnold Center believes the customer must define quality and that quality should be quantifiable; measured against established benchmarks. Utilizing various strategies, including focus groups, customer satisfaction surveys, and personal interviews, the Arnold Center seeks to identify its customers’ quality expectations and then incorporates those expectations into a formal system of continuous quality improvement that includes the development and implementation of a comprehensive Performance Measurement and Management program, CARF Accreditation and ISO Registration. These practices are an integral part of the organization’s quality improvement process providing valuable regulation that is in turn used to modify and/or create services that not only meet, but exceed, our customer’s expectations. It is through customer participation in our quality improvement process that the Arnold Center has gained recognition in the community and the State of Michigan as a provider of exemplary services. Customer feedback is essential to the Arnold Center’s quality improvement process.

Customer feedback The Organization regularly surveys its customers to determine their degree of satisfaction with the services provided and to help define their expectations. The following chart summarizes our customer’s feedback last year and is based on the following 3 point scale:

3= Excellent, very satisfied  2= Good, satisfied  1= Needs Improvement, not satisfied
